Boomerangs:

A long time ago, the aboriginal people were the only people living in Australia.

At that time, the aboriginal people needed to hunt for their own food.

The Aboriginals used the boomerang to hunt for food.

The boomerang is piece of wood that will fly through the air.

The aboriginal people would use the boomerang to catch a kangaroo.

But, if the boomerang missed the kangaroo, it would keep flying and return to the hunter.

This was a very good thing because the aboriginals could keep hunting.

Because the boomerang was one of the aboriginals' favourite weapons, they would decorate it with their favourite patterns.
